Connections

Steve Jones

“Connections” - you hear this word quite a bit. Are you connected? Do you have any connections? We should get connected with this group. I am sure you have heard the saying, “Its not what you know it's who you know”. Who are you connected with?

I have been connected with Camp Ne-O-Tez since I was old enough to attend my first session at Cuivre River State Park before camp owned its own property. As you get older you realize all the connections you've had throughout your life. Several of my precious connections have come by the way of Ne-O-Tez. When I was growing up and trying to navigate my way through adolescence and the teen years there were many hurdles and obstacles that I did not handle as well as I could have. I am sure we all had and still have room for improvement during various periods of our lives. I wonder how well I would have fared if I didn't have “connections” from camp. My connections came in the form of directors, Bible teachers, craft teachers, counselors and yes, cooks. They all realized that I needed a special dose of Jesus. They made sure to give me a second helping if you will. They did their very best to connect me with my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. It would be very difficult to attend camp without making connections with friends and peers who are trying to “do life” along side of you. Those connections were vital in helping get through some challenges. Even when I failed, and fail I did, I knew I had connections with people who had my back and were more concerned that I stay connected.

Camp cannot operate without you helping to connect kids to Christ and to each other. Most likely if you are reading this you have a connection to camp already but perhaps not. Maybe your connection is not as deep or as involved as you would like it to be. The kids we serve at Camp need to be connected to each other, to mentors who serve at camp in various capacities, and most importantly to Christ. In my eyes those three go hand in hand as they try to navigate what life can throw at them. Ecclesiastes 4:12 - “Though one may be overpowered, two can defend themselves. A cord of three strands is not easily broken”.

Satan is always trying to find away to get at each of us but especially our young and vulnerable youth. Please help connect kids to Christ by your giving and your time.

This is why I continue to stay involved with camp and support it. Connections are vital. My father used an illustration of a hot fire with burning coals, (who doesn't like to gaze into a good fire on a cool night) He would say, “Pull one of those coals aside and see how long it stays hot”. As your mind is picturing that right now you see that coal going from red hot to orange to a dull black coal. The youth of our area need connections to keep them in the glow of that warmth that Camp Ne-O-Tez provides.

Thank you for all you have done and continue to do to help our youth stay connected. █
